

Winter Watering Schedule

Mid October through December (first year)	Once per week until first snow
First winter	Once every 3 to 4 weeks, unless there is snow pack covering the ground.
Year 2 & on	Check ground moisture often to determine watering needs. Generally, once per month.

Remember that one foot of snow equals only about one inch of rain. Some light snows may not be enough to give plants enough moisture.

This is only a guide! Watering requirements may change depending upon weather conditions. Please stop in Warner's with any questions or concerns.
